DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 11-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claims 11-13, the top exposure portion and bottom exposure portion are recited to extend "at least approximately between 0.50% and 0.75% of the surface". It is indefinite as to the meaning of the "at least" limitation. The applicant has recited a range and then uses the "at least" wording which is unclear if this means there is no range since it would appear this could extend anywhere within the range to anywhere outside this range. It appears that the applicant intended this wording to be similar to claim 3, which correctly recites an approximate range. Clarification is kindly requested.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Cumfer (1534165).

Cumfer teaches a roofing material containing plastic that has a relief structure in the lower top surface and the upper bottom surface. Refer to the depressions 16 in figure 4. Refer to page 1, lines 72-107. The recitation as to the relief being a "natural material" can be considered any variation in thickness (i.e. relief) of the surface and does not structurally distinguish the claims from the prior art.

5. Claims 1 and 8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Kemerer et al (4290248).

Kemerer et al teaches a synthetic article that contains embossments of artificial shake shingles on both sides thereof. By the entire top and bottom surfaces being covered with the relief pattern, the instant limitations as to the bottom top surface and top bottom surface having a relief pattern are met by the prior art. The applicant is not excluding relief patterns in any other section(s) of their shingle due to the open claims language of "comprising" in the preamble. Refer to the abstract, column 1, lines 14-40, column 5, lines 59-68, column 7, lines 60-65, column 8, lines 11-43 and figure 18.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claims 2-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Cumfer or Kemerer et al.

Art Unit: 1772

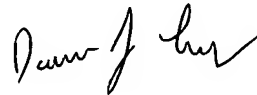

The primary references teach the invention substantially as recited except for the specific size and percent coverage of the surface with the relief pattern. See 35 USC 102 rejections above.

However, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to the primary references to form the article of the size specified since a change in shape or size is considered within ordinary skill in the art and motivated by the fact the references teach shingle type articles formed. See MPEP section 2144.04 IV. The examiner also deems the percent coverage of the surface with a relief pattern as obvious since the prior art discloses a relief pattern in the surface and this would just be controlling how much of the surface one wants patterned.
